The FBI arrested the four men today in Pennsylvania and they are expected to make their initial appearances in the Middle District of Pennsylvania.

According to court documents, body-worn camera and publicly available footage identified the four men, collectively known as the Scotts and Slaters. The four men entered the restricted grounds of the U.S. Capitol building on Jan. 6, 2021, and physically engaged with police officers. Publicly available footage shows that the Scotts and the Slaters attended the “Stop the Steal” rally earlier in the day on January 6th and later made their way to the Upper Northwest Terrace of the Capitol building.

Here, at about 4:00 p.m., the Scotts and Slaters verbally harassed a line of police officers as Slater Jr. picked up a flagpole and allegedly threw it towards the line, striking one of the officers. A few seconds later, Slater Jr. allegedly picked up an “AREA CLOSED” sign and threw that sign at the line of officers.

Court documents say that at about 4:48 p.m., the Scotts and the Slaters physically engaged with and confronted police officers near the Upper Northwest Terrace of the Capitol building as police officers yelled, "Police, move back" and attempted to clear the area of rioters.

During this confrontation with police, it is alleged that Tighe Scott engaged with police, physically struck riot shields, and attempted to rip a riot shield out of an officer's hands. It is also alleged that Slater Sr., holding a golf club, physically pushed and resisted against police shields. It is alleged that Jarrett Scott, also holding a golf club, physically pushed and resisted against police shields as well.

Finally, it is alleged that Slater Jr. physically resisted police officers in this area, including by using his bodyweight to resist police, jabbing an officer with his elbow, charging at officers, and ripping a riot shield from an officer's grasp.
